DOGS OF WARNorthern Mexico is Reported
Tranquil Today

FIRST TIME IN SIX MONTHS

There May Be Trouble in Getting Assessment of Rebels in Lower California,
So Northern Rebel Envoys Will Be Sent There to Urge Peace.

Juarez, Mexico, May 22.—Tranquility reigns in northern Mexico to-day for the first time in six months. The message is being flashed to-day over the wires and by couriers to remote parts of the country, announcing that last night's peace agreement definitely ended hostilities between the revolutionists and the federal government. All the parties seemed to be pleased with the agreement.

Judge Carbajal the federal peace envoy, to-day prepared to depart for Mexico City. Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the rebel leader, now awaits the resignation of President Diaz.

Trouble is anticipated with the rebels in Lower California. Rebel envoys will be sent there, urging the acceptance of the conditions agreed upon here. Should they refuse, an armed expedition will probably be sent to subdue them.

PEACE AGREEMENT
SIGNED BY BOTH

Madero Hesitated a Long Time Before
Assenting to the Proposition at Juarez Last Night.

Juarez, Mexico, May 22.—Officially designated representatives of the Mexican government and the revolutionists at ten o'clock last night signed a peace agreement at the customs house here, intended to end the hostilities that have been waged in Mexico for the last six months.

Through covering only the principal points negotiated this far, the agreement practically records the concessions which started, on November 20, the revolution. Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were despatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders alike.

Constitutional restrictions prevented inclusion in the agreement of the fact that the rebels were permitted to suggest to various state legislatures the names of provisional governors, and likewise the fact that six of the eight members of the new cabinet have been chosen by the revolutionists, but the agreement records that President Diaz and Vice-President Corral will resign and that the government is to concentrate its attention on desired reforms.

In the same room where President Taft and President Diaz met two years ago peace was formally declared. Judge Carbajal represented the federal government, and Dr. Vasquez Gomez, Francisco I. Madero Sr., and Pina Juarez acted for the revolutionists. The agreement follows:

"In the city of Juarez on the 21st day of May, 1911, Senor Don Francisco S. Carbajal, representing the government of Mexico, and Senor Don Francisco Vasquez Gomez, Don Francisco I. Madero and Don Jose Maria Pino Suarez, as the representatives of the revolutionary forces having gathered to treat about the method of effecting a cessation of hostilities in the entire national territory, and considering:

"1. That Senor General Porfirio Diaz has manifested his resolution of resigning the presidency of the republic before the end of the present month, and

"2. That bona fide news is at hand that Ramon Corral will resign the vice-presidency of the republic within the same period, and

"3. That by the administration of late, Senor Francisco Leon de la Barra, at present minister of foreign relations of the government of General Diaz, will assume for the interim the power of the executive of the nation and will call the general elections according to the terms of the constitution, and

"4. That the national government will study the conditions of public opinion to satisfy these conditions with the provisions of the constitution and will come to an agreement conducive to identifying the losses directly caused by the revolution.

"Therefore, the two parties represented in this conference, in view of the previous considerations, have agreed to formulate the following agreement:

"From to-day on, hostilities which have existed in the entire national territory of the republic shall cease between the forces of the government and those of the revolution, these forces to be dismissed in proportion as in each state the necessary steps are taken to re-establish and guarantee tranquility and public order.

"Transitory provision:

"As soon as possible the reconstruction or repair of telegraph and railway lines hitherto interrupted shall be begun."

The agreement was signed after three days of indecision, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., leader of the revolution expressing the view that peace could be declared only when Senor de la Barra became provisional president, and the new cabinet was installed.

Taking advantage of the excitement caused by his act, Baggarazo fled and was caught in East Boston.

Baggarazo went to Quincy from Lynn about a month ago. At the factory he made the acquaintance of William Johnson, who lives at 57 Penn street. It was not long before Baggarazo was going regularly to the Johnson home where Johnson aided him in mastering English. He met Annie, the daughter, and fell in love with her. At every idle moment he sought her company.

He was a Spaniard, and often visited a house at 55 Penn street in Quincy are accustomed to gather where Johnson and Baggarazo met. Baggarazo passed along Penn street yesterday just as Mier and Annie were standing near the girl's gate conversing. Spectators say that Baggarazo crossed the street and angrily charged Mier with attempting to win the girl's affections.

Mier was inclined to treat the attack lightly, when it is said, Baggarazo gathered about him and plunged it four times in Mier's breast. The blows were so quick and Mier so astonished that he scarcely stirred during the attack. When it was over Baggarazo sprang away. Mier turned and started for the house.

At the door he fell and was helped inside. Dr. Richard McLennan arrived soon after. Mier died within 10 minutes. The doctor said all the state had penetrated near the heart.

To-day's Session.

ABOUT RENEWED CHARGES

Washington, D. C., May 22.—An immediate investigation by the committee on privileges and elections of the renewed charges that Senator Lorimer of Illinois is not entitled to his seat in the United States Senate will be demanded by the Democratic senators when Senator LaFollette calls up his resolution of inquiry later in the day. This decision was made this morning at a meeting of the Senate Democratic steering committee. The Senate was not called to order till 2 o'clock this afternoon.

After the excitement there the mob swept past three special policemen in the Strong theatre, rushed to the front of the theatre and began cheering, one of their number mounting the stage. At this, the curtain was rung down, and the performance ended, money being refunded by the manager to-day.

Then a mob boarded an electric car and tried to pull conductor Edward McGee off, at the same time cutting the bell rope and otherwise damaging the car. The conductor defended himself with an iron pipe. Finally, the car got away to Winooski, and there McGee's friends to the number of fifty started back, armed with sticks and even revolvers. At this time, Elias Lyman hurried to Winooski in an automobile and came across the McGee crowd coming. He finally got them to disperse. Later the students gave it up. No arrests have been made yet.

Returning as soon as he felt relieved he was taken again with cramps and began to sink, and finally succumbed before assistance could reach him. Where the drowning occurred there is a swift current and the body was taken down the stream and up to last night had not been recovered. "Smiling" Logan as he was familiarly known, was about 22 or 23 years of age and was born in Kentucky. CASE NEARING END.

Jury Likely to Get the Boyd Case
Sometime To-morrow.

Newfane, May 22.—The jury in Windham county court is likely to get the case of Frank J. Boyd, charged with the murder of John Potter, to-morrow evening. The defense was ready through when the court adjourned Saturday till this afternoon.

Charles S. Chase, senior counsel for the respondent, renewed his motion for the jury to visit the Boyd sugarhouse and premises and offered to pay all expenses of transportation but the motion was denied by the court. The Boyd farm is situated on the Jacksonville road in the town of Wilmington and is about three and one-half miles from Wilmington village. Immediately upon the motion of Attorney Chase being denied, the defense rested and the state began its rebuttal by calling Miss G. Sadie Smith of Rutland official court reporter, in an attempt to impeach the testimony of Ada Boyd and Clara Grimes, as given before the grand jury it was rather involved.

The defense objected to Miss Smith's testimony being allowed on the ground that all of the testimony of Ada Boyd and Clara Grimes should be read to the jury rather than such parts as the state might wish to produce by Miss Smith's testimony. The respondent's attorneys insisted that all of the testimony of these two witnesses be read and the jury left to judge if particular answers had been modified, qualified or retracted and Mr. Chase further insisted that the reading of a part of the testimony was showing question of fact by the witness which should be left for the jury to determine. Judge Waterman admitted the testimony of the court reporter, who read from her notes. At that point the state asked for a recess as the rest of the prosecution's witnesses are in Wilmington and could not be reached before Monday.

Frank J. Boyd the accused man, sat stolidly through the session Saturday and manifested no interest in the proceedings. Though the respondent has for many years borne an unsavory reputation, public sentiment here seems to be with him when the career of Potter is laid bare by the testimony of the dead man's neighbors.

ROITIOUS STUDENTS
DO MUCH DAMAGE

University of Vermont Men Celebrated
Their Dartmouth Victory, and Mix
Up In Many Fights.

Burlington, May 22.—In celebrating their 10 to 0 baseball victory over Dartmouth college Saturday, students of the university of Vermont that night destroyed considerable property in a bonfire, threw Chief Niles to the ground when he was kicked in the side, bowled over one of the two policemen who vainly strove to quiet the mob on one city market grounds, caused Grant Thomas to sustain two fractures in one foot, stopped a theatrical performance in the Strong theatre and wound up with a fight with a street car conductor. That most serious trouble did not follow the last named performance was due to the arrival of Acting President Elias Lyman of the university, who prevailed on the crowd of students and the conductor's friends to disperse.

The trouble started when the students came down for a night shirt parade, a bonfire being started on the city market grounds and much property in the vicinity being confiscated to make the blaze bigger. When sparks flew from the bonfire to adjoining buildings, Chief Niles and the firemen turned out and attempted to put out the bonfire. Some students objected, although others saw the force of the fire chief's remarks and tried to stop their fellows. The former began to hack the hose, and when Chief Niles started to arrest one of the fellows, the other firemen were hurled to the ground. Two lengths of hose worth $80 were ruined and one other length was stolen. Police and deputy sheriffs, who tried to stop the students, were likewise treated.

After the excitement there the mob swept past three special policemen in the Strong theatre, rushed to the front of the theatre and began cheering, one of their number mounting the stage. At this, the curtain was rung down, and the performance ended, money being refunded by the manager to-day.

Then a mob boarded an electric car and tried to pull conductor Edward McGee off, at the same time cutting the bell rope and otherwise damaging the car. The conductor defended himself with an iron pipe. Finally, the car got away to Winooski, and there McGee's friends to the number of fifty started back, armed with sticks and even revolvers. At this time, Elias Lyman hurried to Winooski in an automobile and came across the McGee crowd coming. He finally got them to disperse. Later the students gave it up. No arrests have been made yet.

HEAT CLOSED
THE SCHOOLS

First Time in the History of Barre's School System

Conditions in the Schools This Forenoon
Were Very Bad, and Commissioners and Superintendent Thought It Best to Suspend Schools.

A torrid wave struck down yesterday and to-day with almost stifling force, making conditions as bad as in mid-summer. The public schools of Barre were closed for the first time to-day because of the heat. When the buildings were opened this morning a pent-up atmosphere as if laked by countless furnaces met the children. The coolest temperature in any room, of which report was received, was 80 degrees, and that was in the north, and less exposed rooms of the Mathewson building on Elm street. From that the temperature in the various rooms ranged up to 90 degrees.

Since the conditions grew worse rather than better as the forenoon progressed, the school commissioners and the superintendent conferred and decided it was best to close the schools for the remainder of the day beginning at noon. Therefore, when school was dismissed after the forenoon session the children were informed that they should not return after dinner. Supt. Mathewson stated that he could not recall a time when conditions in the school buildings were more unbearable from the heat than they were to-day. He and the commissioners considered that it was an undue hardship to make the children return to their work this afternoon.

So far as reported, there were no prostrations among the children in any school, but it was evident that scarcely any work could be accomplished because the children were so restless. The high school closed, as usual, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, that being the end of the regular day's session.

A large majority of the granite plants shut down for the day at noon, while some which are equipped with electric fans, continued in operation. The heat was fully as oppressive in the plants as in the hottest period of the summer. Work on the construction of the federal building on the corner of South Main and Prospect streets was suspended at 10 o'clock this forenoon.

A thermometer on the shady side of Main street registered 92 this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and at 1:30 the same thermometer registered 93 degrees.

The fourth death in Montpelier in the last 48 hours occurred this morning when Justin T. Hill, a man 83 years of age, passed away at the home of his adopted daughter. Mr. Hill was born in Elmore and was a descendant of Col. Elmore, the first settler in that town. Three of the four deaths in the last two days, three of them are said to have been due partly to the excessive heat.

HOTTEST MAY DAY
EVER RECORDED

Register at Northfield This Afternoon at
1:30 Was Three Degrees Higher
Than Previous Records—No Immediate Relief.

Northfield, May 22.—The hottest May day ever recorded at the United States weather bureau in Northfield was the verdict given out this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, when the official thermometer registered 93 degrees, that being a jump of two degrees since 11 o'clock this forenoon. Only twice in the history of the bureau at this place has to-day's temperature been exceeded; even in mid-summer. On those occasions, which were in June and July, the register was 95 degrees.

The bureau can promise no relief during the next twenty-four hours unless it be local disturbances. The storm which was coming on from the West has been slowed down and practically stopped, the bureau reports, and no marked change is expected before Tuesday night. Prior to to-day, the hottest May day was 90 degrees.

RELIGION LESS FORMAL

And More Vital, Said Dr. J. W. Barnett
in Sermon Before Clan Gordon.

Members of Clan Gordon, No. 12, Order of Scottish Clans, to the number of sixty-five, met at the clan rooms Sunday forenoon and attended morning worship at the Congregational church in a body. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Barnett, delivered an excellent address on "The Divine Requirement," taking his text from Micah 6:1-8. Dr. Barnett stated at the opening of his remarks that, normally, man is fundamentally religious. There is a certain element in the make-up of a mortal being that gives him a religious instinct. Since this is a working principle that may be applied to all men, the one great question of importance to each individual is "What is required of me?"

In the sermon which followed, the pastor outlined the character of the foundation stones upon which the ideal Christian life is led. "The manifold and various forms of religion are only the suppressions of man's attempts to bring himself into a nearer harmony with the life and teachings of the Master. We are not altogether free from the old ideas that prayers, petitions, etc. are employed mainly to obtain God's mercy and blessing. This principle which has come down to us from another generation is not necessarily erroneous, but nevertheless, it has its limitations. The best expression of a divine requirement comes in the answer conscience gives to the question 'What does God wish?' The Master in His great goodness said, 'Come unto me all ye that travail and are heavily laden and I will refresh you.' Herein lies the solution of man's attitude toward his God."

"The change from a formal to a vital religion, a transition that is felt in every corner of Christendom, is being carried more and more into the everyday life of man. The attitude of man toward his brother should be identical with his love and honor for God. This is a truth that is becoming apparent every day of our lives and is being brought forcibly home to each of us by living examples of the growing spirit of brotherhood manifested in walk and sphere of life."
